By accessing, registering on, subscribing to, clicking "I Agree", creating an account, or otherwise using the LEGATRIXON Platform, the user expressly acknowledges and agrees that they have read, understood, and accepted these Terms and Conditions, Privacy Policy, and all other policies published by LEGATRIXON, and such acceptance shall constitute a valid, legally binding, and enforceable electronic contract having the same legal effect as a written agreement signed physically. The user further agrees not to copy, reproduce, modify, distribute, sell, license, commercialize, scrape, extract, download, reverse engineer, decompile, disassemble, derive, or attempt to access the source code, software architecture, algorithms, databases, AI models, workflows, proprietary information, trade secrets, business methods, designs, functionalities, or any other intellectual or technological components of the Platform, nor create, develop, operate, support, or assist any website, software, application, platform, service, or product that is substantially similar to, derived from, competitive with, or intended to replicate any part of LEGATRIXON. Any unauthorized use, infringement, misuse, circumvention of security measures, or breach of this Agreement shall constitute a material violation entitling LEGATRIXON to immediately suspend or terminate access, seek injunctive relief, recover damages, legal costs, and pursue all civil, criminal, and statutory remedies available under applicable law without prejudice to any other rights or remedies available to it.
